IN THE NORTH WOODS.

CROWDS OF PEOPLE ENJOYING THE BRACING WEATHER.

THE HUNTING SEASON OPENED AND SEVERAL DEER ALREADY SHOT-ENTERTAIN-MENTS AT THE HOTELS.

Adirondack Mountains, Aug. 22 (Special).-Th first part of the week was undeniably cold in the mountains, and for a day or so the open fireplacin the hotels were more popular than any of the outside attractions. But one shiver doesn't make a fall, any more than one swallow makes a summer and the summer crowds are enjoying themselves too much to take alarm and flee to their cities of refuge at the touch of unseasonable cold. Toward the end of the week the clouds lifted, and the air is now bracing and delightful, in pleasant contrasto the heat of a week or so ago. All the hotels are and the serson as yet gives no sign of waning. Still-hunting for deer is now permissible, and many of the hotel guests have gone forth into the forest to try their luck.

Successful fairs were held this week in aid of the Adirondack Cottage Sanitarium at two hotels, Paul Smith's and Saranac Inn, and a goodly sum for the shelter. The guests of the Lake Placid House are same worthy object was realized from an entertain ment at the Ampersand.

HOTEL CHILDWOLD.

Massawepie, N. Y., Aug. 22 (Special).—Still-hunting is a pretty uncertain and difficult way of getting deer, yet seven deer of good size were brought in here between last Saturday, when the off," and Thursday-proof, if proof be needed, of the well-known fact that deer are abundant in the big preserve of Childwold Park. Twelve or fifteen of the guests of the hotel are now in camp on the Raquette River, within the preserve, on the lookout big backs, and several parties have been made up to go "down the river" for a single night or so. Partridge-shooting is also excellent, one man the other afternoon bringing down eight of the birds.

But the throng of guests at the hotel is so large that the absence of the sportsmen is not not except by their especial friends. These who are not d of hunting find plenty of other amuseme The weather in the last few days has been so stimulating that rowing on the lake is a keener pleasure than usual, and many have enjoyed it. The tennis court, too, is all the while occupied. That the head waiter has the quickness of memory and agility of limb necessary for the scating of this large number of "translents," without undue delay and without the friction which would develop if he should put any of them in the seats reserved for the regular guests, shows that he is the right man in the right place. THE RUISSEAUMONT.

Lake Placid, N. Y., Aug. 22 (Special).—The Ruisseaumont is filled, as it has been for weeks, and among its guests are an unusually large number of young people-not unusually large for the Ruisseaumont, but, relatively speaking, in comparison with most of the other hotels. This contingent, too, is composed of more young men than girls, a con dition which has held good at the Ruisseaumont the last three seasons. With all these young people here it may readily be supposed that the days and the evenings are full of fun and incident. The tennis tournament for guests of the Ruisseau-mont only, which was begun last wek, was not unished until the first of the present week. The chief feature of out-of-door amusement this week, however, has been the regatta on Lake Placid, given under Mr. Krumbholz's management, and open to all comers of both sexes, the single condition being that they should be sojourners on the shores of Lake Placid or Mirror Lake. The regatta, which began on Wednesday and ended today, comprised contests in singles, doubles and mixed Goubles.

STEVENS HOUSE. The Stevens House is doing an exceedingly large business, which is likely to show little falling off for a month yet. The feature of special interest at this big hotel this week has been the tennis tournament, which began on Tuesday. There were many entries from the neighboring hotels, as well as the Stevens House, both sexes being well represented among the players. The winners were: In

Mr. Ricketts, the professional golf expert and teacher at Hote! Champlain, has this week been laying out the links on the Stevens House grounds. The players are eager for the sport, and the completion of the links will mark the outbreak of the golf fever at Lake Placid. Next week there is to be a series of boat races on Lake Placid, open to all comers, for which contests handsome prizes are offered. A party of 175 members of the Arion Society of

HOTEL WAWBEEK.

Wawbeek, N. Y., Aug. 22 (Special).-The week at the Wawbeek has been like the weeks which have preceded it, pleasurable and full of gayety. The hotel itself, with its tastefully laid out ground and its handsome cottages, is a thing of beauty; and morely to sit on its plazza and gaze at the charming lake, with its island and along-shore camps and the mountains rising beyond, is to en oy life. Yet there is something in the air which nduces to energy, and the guests of the hotel de vote much of their time to tennis and croquet, and hoating and fishing and excursions in the trim lace their headquarters, and find frequent occupa lakes, reached by water connection or carries from the Upper Saranac by woods trails, or into the hance on the green, in which nearly all the guest The teamster with his fiddle was d deer's head interested everybody. There were so many men present that some of them had to 'play lady.' On Tuesday afternoon some of the Wawbeek's guests journeyed over to Saranac Inn, where a fair was held which netted more than 18,100 for the Adirondack Cottage Sanitarium at Saranac Lake. The lecture one evening this week by Leroy B. Stoddard, on "The Adirondacks Illustrated," with a great many excellent views, was attended by a large number of interested kuests in the hotel parlors; and a dance in the servants hall, where the fiddier same his histractions in the old-time way and the men on the floor gave amusing proof that they were less expert guides in the quadrille and the waitz than in the woods, was heartly enjoyed by the onlookers as well as by the participants. heartily enjoyed by the onlocars as the participants.

THE AMPERSAND.

THE AMPERSAND

Faranac Lake, N. Y., Aug. 22 (Special).—This has been a week of gayety at the Ampersand, the crowning feature of which was the play given on Thursday evening for the benefit of the Adirondack Cottage Sanitarium. The play was a complete success, and all the performers deserve the praise which is given them for the excellent work they did. The patronesses were Mrs. C. Bartlett, Mrs. H. L. Center, Mrs. T. E. Eddy, Mrs. N. Guilford, Mrs. Charles Glover, Mrs. W. T. Innes, Mrs. Charles Mellin, Mrs. Lincoln McCormick, Mrs. A. H. Mitchell, Mrs. B. B. Sloan, Mrs. M. M. White, Mrs. chell, Mrs. B. B. ST. HUPERT'S INN.

Beede's, N. Y., Aug. 22 (Special),-St. Hubert's Inn is having a prosperous season, with its 200 guests, a great many of whom will stay on into September. Golf seems to be the popular out-ofdoor sport here this summer, and the links are traversed every day by many enthusiastic players. A match tournament was held here on Wednesday between the Cobble Hill Golf Club, of Elizabeth-town, and the St. Hubert's Golf Club, the latter winning it by forty-one holes. The representatives of St. Hubert's were W. K. Jewett, J. R. Chadwick, A. M. White, jr., and H. B. Thompson. A handicap golf tournament, open to guests of the hotel and to cottagers, will be held on the grounds of the St. Hubert's Club on Monday morning, and on the afternoon of the same day there will be a sandicap tournament for mixed foursomes. Within the last week Mrs. A. Alexander and Mrs.

W. E. Jewett, of New-York, have each given a largely attended and exceedingly enjoyable 5 o'clock tea at lower Ausable Lake, and nearly every arternoon some one of the guests invites her friends to a similar function at the inn. The other evening Mrs. Francis H. Williams and Miss Josephine Rafley, of Philadelphia, gave a potato race in the Casino. Miss Metzgar, of New-York, and Miss Casino. Miss Metzgat, of New-York, and Miss Williams, of Philadelphia, were the captains, and the prizes went to Miss C. A. Bond, of Philadelphia, and Miss E. C. Schettler, of New-York. On the following evening a progressive euchre party was given in the hotel parlors by Mrs. Horace S. Taylor and Mrs. W. K. Jewett, of New-York, Fourteen prizes were awarded. The first three prizes

The numerous arrivals during the week have greatly added to the throngs seen in the streets and at the mineral springs. The season may now be said to have substantially reached its height. Saratoga is at present entertaining thousands of visitors, and will continue to do so for a number of weeks to come, and, in fact, till after the first of October. The agreeable change in the weather early in the week has lent an enthusiasm to all forms of outdoor amusements, including fetes, lawn parties, golf, bicycling, riding, etc. Enterainments daily have been almost as numerous as the fleeting hours, and Saratoga's guests are making the most enjoyable use of their time.

The lecture-loving portion of Saratoga's summer visitors were delightfully entertained this week by the Rev. Dr. J. H. W. Stuckenberg, of Cambridge, Mass., and Professor William M. R. French, of the Chicago Art Institute. The attendance was the largest so far this year.

most delightful affair of the week was a parade of small boats on the belaware River. It took place Wednesday evening. There were twenty-seven boats in line, and the route was down to the Gap. Music and singing were features. Since the weather became cool there has been a revival of coaching and bleyeling. More than a dozen parties have stopped here since Sanday, and the wheelmen on long trips are dropping in almost every hour. All the hotels are well filled, and at the Kittatinny and Water Gap houses a dance is held every night. Straw rides are popular. Most of them go to Stroudsburg. A number of them are arranged for next week, when the moon will be full.

Bass fishing was never better. A Brooklyn party caught fourteen Tuesday above the railroad bridge, one of which weighted five and a half pounds, other party from New-York caught bits better.

THE CULMINATING POINT OF THE FASHION-ABLE SEASON-THE ROUND OF EN-TERTAINMENTS.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 22 (Special).-This has been tennis week, always a fachionable feature of Newport's summer season. For the matches for the National championship not only attract the tennis enthusiasts, pure and simple, but serve also as a sort of open-air dress parade for society, which never misses this golden opportunity to display charming outdoor costumes suited to the sport, and to exchange the latest bits of gossip under such delightful conditions and amid such pleasing surroundings. So during the forenoon hours of nament week everybody in society is at the Casino, and one may see about the courts, as the games go on, a more notable gathering of fair women and distinguished men than, possibly, arywhere else in America.

But tennis has not been the only subject of interest and attention, for it has been as well a week of large entertainments, exceeding in brilliancy any seen before this season. On the night of th opening day of the tennis tourney occurred the Van Alen ball in honor of the coming-out of the elder daughter of the house-the biggest event of the summer. The improvised ballroom, imported for the occasion and erected intact on the grounds outside the house, gave the touch of novelty to the ial accessories, some of which were not dis nineteenth annual meeting of the American Bar expecting that this ball would surpass in many re-Association, which was ended yesterday, brought to spects anything of the kind seen here for some time, and it is the general verdict that its anticiwhom was the Chief Justice of England, Lord pations were realized, as Mr. Van Alen was espe-Russell of Killowen. On Wednesday evening society was interested in the amateur minstrel entertainment at the Casino, in which a number of the younger element participuted; on Thursday night followed the big ball, in some sense a more splendid speciacle than much impressed with Saratoga's wenderful mineral | the Van Alen dance, and on the same evening the annual big hop at the Ocean House. Several unusually large dinners were given this week, besides the almost innumerable smaller entertainments. Polo matches and yacht races occupied the hours of the late afternoon and to-day the busy week closed with the annual display of the coaching parade.

Not much more, certainly, could well be crowded into a single week, and allow those who participat ed in this procession of things time for rest and recreation from the unceasing round of pleasures But this and next week mark the culminating point in the gay season, and must, perforce, be filled to the full.
